Message from the Chairperson

I have great pleasure in presenting the first Annual Report of the Heritage Council.

This has truly been a watershed year in heritage management in the Territory. A new Heritage Act commenced on 1 October 2012. The key features of the Act are:

- A new process for heritage listing which introduces timelines at all stages of the listing process, and allows for interim protection of places;
- improved processes for carrying out work, including the ability for the Heritage Council to make decisions about minor work;
- an expanded Heritage Council;
- the capacity to list classes of places;
- increased penalties; and
- expanded rights of review

The new Heritage Council met for the first time on 5 October 2012. The Council has several members (including myself) who were also members of the former Heritage Advisory Council, thus providing some useful continuity. However, there are also several new members and this has brought a sense of renewal and some fresh perspectives.

At Council's first meeting, Council took steps to make sure it was in a good position to play an effective role in administering the new Act. Several key policies were adopted.

Council also considered the critical issue of the 'backlog' of places nominated for heritage listing under the old Heritage Conservation Act, but where no final decision had been made at the time the new Act commenced.

Council has since been working its way through this backlog and can record good progress, including the declaration of four places as heritage places.

The new Act has brought with it strict new timelines in relation to making decisions about proposed work, and also assessing the significance of places and objects nominated for heritage listing. So far, Council has been able to meet these timelines, and it is gratifying to know that this is giving stakeholders a more timely response, and a greater degree of certainty than they may have had in the past.

At a more strategic level, Council decided to look at whether historic cemeteries and burial sites could be protected as a class of place under the new Act. This work is now underway.

Council has also been considering the issue of climate change, and is determined that we factor this in to our decision-making processes. Macassan sites are particularly vulnerable to climate change, and Council has taken steps to ensure that such sites are properly recorded.

Overall, I would say that at present there is every reason to be positive about the future of heritage management in the Northern Territory.

DR BRIAN REID

The Heritage Act and the role of Council

The object of the Heritage Act is to provide for the conservation of the Northern Territory's cultural and natural heritage.

- (j) to perform other functions conferred under this or another Act or as directed by the Minister.

- 22 March 2013; and
- 14 June 2013.

Assessment and Declaration

Nominations

The heritage listing process starts with someone nominating a place or object for heritage listing.

The Council received five nominations during the year, as follows:

- Grave of Goolam Rasool Nazar, Alice Springs
- O’Ferral’s Rock, Darwin
- WWII Catalina Boat Ramp East Arm, Darwin
- DH114 Heron Aircraft, Alice Springs
- Pioneer Drive-in Screen, Alice Springs

Council accepted all of these nominations.

Assessments

Once it has accepted a nomination, Council must apply the heritage assessment criteria set out in the Act, in order to determine whether the place is of heritage significance.

The heritage assessment criteria for a place or object are set out in section 11 of the Heritage Act, and are as follows:

- (a) whether it is important to the course, or pattern, of the Territory's cultural or natural history;
- (b) whether it possesses uncommon, rare or endangered aspects of the Territory's cultural or natural history.
- (c) whether it has potential to yield information that will contribute to an understanding of the Territory's cultural or natural history;
- (d) whether it is important in demonstrating the principal characteristics of a class of cultural or natural places or environments;
- (e) whether it is important in exhibiting particular aesthetic characteristics;
- (f) whether it is important in demonstrating a high degree of creative or technical achievement during a particular period;
- (g) whether it has a strong or special association with a particular community or cultural group for social, cultural or spiritual reasons, including the significance of a place to Aboriginal people as part of their continuing and developing cultural traditions;
- (h) whether it has a special association with the life or works of a person, or group of persons, of importance in the Territory's history.

The Council assessed the significance of eight places, as follows:

Provisional Protection

The Minister signed an Interim Conservation Order for 'Catalina Six' in Darwin Harbour on 23 July 2012, under the terms of the now revoked Heritage Conservation Act.

Under the transitional provisions of the Heritage Act, this gives Catalina Six the status of provisional protection under the new Act.

No other places were provisionally declared as heritage places.

The State of the Register

The NT Heritage Register now has a total of 260 places and objects that have been declared as heritage places and objects since the commencement of the Heritage Conservation Act in 1991.

Under the transitional provisions of the new Heritage Act, all places and objects declared under the old Act have the same status under the new Act. A complete list of all declared places and objects as at 30 June 2013 is provided at Appendix One.

Conservation Program for Government-owned Heritage Assets

The Conservation Program for Government-owned Heritage Assets had a budget of $1 million in 2012–13.

The implementation of the Program is an operational matter for the Department of Lands, Planning and the Environment. Council is involved when work approvals are required, and is provided with an annual update on work completed under the program.

Policy and Strategy

At its first meeting on 5 October 2012, Council adopted policies on:

- Heritage Listing of Aboriginal Archaeological Places;
- Heritage Listing of Natural Places;
- Addressing meetings of Council;
- Application of the Heritage Assessment Criteria; and
- Heritage Management of Places owned by the Commonwealth.

Council decided that in cases where a place could potentially be better managed under other legislation (for example because it was significant largely for its natural values, or because it was on land owned by the Commonwealth), that Council should put in place a 'watching brief' in order to ensure that the values of the place were being properly managed.

Places currently on the 'watching brief' are:

- O'Ferrals Rock, Darwin
- Black Jungle Conservation Reserve
- Uluru National Park
- Sir Edward Pellew Group
- Wildman River Catchment
- Corridors of Native Vegetation, Stuart Highway (between Arnhem Highway and Noonamah)

At its first meeting, Council also considered how to deal with the 'backlog' of places nominated for heritage listing under the old Heritage Conservation Act, but where no final decision had been made at the time the new Act commenced.

Council agreed to adopt an approach which gives priority to places where a thorough assessment process was carried out, and where the proposed heritage listing has received (or is likely to receive) support from the owner.

In other cases Council acknowledged that, under the transitional provisions of the new Act, the heritage listing process for many places nominated under the old Act will effectively come to an end. In most cases, this will occur on 1 October 2013.

However, Council noted that if there are places which the Council or any member of the public think ought to be protected, they can be renominated for heritage listing under the new Act.

At its second meeting on 7 December 2012, Council decided that it wanted to initiate, in accordance with section 43 of the Heritage Act, the assessment of the heritage significance of historic cemeteries and burial sites in the Northern Territory as a class of place to be protected by the Act.

The Chairman attended the annual meeting of the Heritage Chairs and Officials of Australia and New Zealand (HCOANZ) on 20 and 21 February 2013. The meeting was held in Canberra.

Items on the agenda included arrangements for the management of World Heritage Areas; National Heritage Week; Commonwealth owned heritage places; climate change; disability access to heritage buildings, bilateral agreements under the EPBC Act, and the Australian Heritage Strategy.
